Verbal Description:

Anthropomorphic facial fragments.

This example includes a very long (2.5 x 2.5 x 2 cm) triangle, although slightly hooked, nose which supports two protruded nose-plugs. The nose plug, mounted at the base of the organ, are accounted by a circular groove which traces their margins. There is also a round lip mouth (upper lip is very thick - 6 mm wide) which encompasses a central vertically incised T-tooth flanked on either side by two shorter, rectangular teeth. These teeth are defined by vertical incisions. The mouth appears to have opened into the interior of the figure as the bases of the teeth are pushed as well. Anterior surface is slightly spitted the the extra carbon may have been smoothed/centred by core.
